
New Collectors and Kravets Wehby Gallery present All you can eat, a group exhibition in Chelsea and Two Bridges

June 22 – July 29, 2023

Opening Receptions:
Thursday, June 22+29, 6–8pm

New Collectors is pleased to announce All you can eat, a collaborative exhibition with Kravets Wehby Gallery, featuring work by eight figurative painters. The exhibition will occupy both galleries and have opening receptions one week apart.

The first portion of the exhibition will open at Kravets Wehby Gallery in Chelsea. The opening reception will take place on Thursday, June 22, from 6-8pm. The show will feature bold narrative work by Liv Aanrud, Sejiro Avoseh, Lauren Cline, Maria Yolanda Liebana, Assata Mason, Buket Savci, Jade Thacker and Furong Zhang.

The second course of the exhibition will be at New Collectors with modest scale work that thematically reaches across both spaces. The opening reception will take place on Thursday, June 29, from 6-8pm. Participating artists include Liv Aanrud, Lauren Cline, Rachel Hayden, Assata Mason, Erin LeAnn Mitchell, and Furong Zhang.

Kravets Wehby Gallery has been a mainstay in Chelsea for the past 30 years. Championing the work of a diverse range of artists, they have been able to establish the careers of many artists while aiding collectors in building notable collections.

New Collectors opened on Henry Street in July, 2021, adding themselves to the roster of small and emerging gallery spaces in Two Bridges. The gallery primarily features work by emerging artists while also fostering space for new art collectors to familiarize themselves with the art market and emerging art scene in the Lower East Side.

With this unconventional collaboration, Kravets Wehby Gallery and New Collectors reaffirm their commitment to supporting emerging artists and promoting diverse perspectives within the art world. By uniting their resources and expertise, these galleries are driving innovation and opening new doors for both artists and collectors alike.
